Getting in the Driver's Seat

Don't risk your driving freedom. Pay attention to the rules—they are designed with your safety in mind.

What is GDL?

Steps to getting your license

Introducing GDL

Colorado implemented Graduated Driver Licensing (GDL) laws to help you develop important driving skills gradually. GDL laws include the steps required to get a license and set driving restrictions in your first years of having a license. GDL restrictions include passenger restrictions, curfew and cell phone ban.

Below are definitions and details about the types of training that you may be required to complete before getting your license:

Driver's education: An approved 30-hour classroom, internet or home study course.

Instruction permit: All new drivers under age 18 require parent/legal guardian's signed "Affidavit of Liability and Guardianship" to get an instruction permit. Whoever signs the Affidavit is responsible for the supervision of the minor's driving and for any financial liability.

50 hours of logged driving time: Completed under the supervision of the Colorado-licensed parent or legal guardian who signed the Affidavit of Liability or a Colorado-licensed alternate permit supervisor appointed by the parent/guardian. Ten of the fifty hours must be at night.

Behind-the-wheel training: 6 hours of driving, in traffic situations, with an instructor employed or associated with an approved driver education course.

Driver awareness program: A 4-hour classroom course on safety and driver education.

Driver's license: Teens can apply for a license after having a permit for a full 12 months.

All drivers under age 18 must follow restrictions outlined in this brochure. Restrictions apply for all drivers under age 18.

The training required before you can apply for a license varies depending upon what age you start the GDL process.
